What can I say besides amazing, wonderful, inspiring, exciting, exhausting, enthralling... National Conference 2005 was incredible!

This last Sunday through Wednesday, I had the privilege to be in Chicago for Pampered Chef's National Conference during the 25th anniversary year. The experience was one I'll never forget, and one that came filled with changes, announcements, and 39 exciting new Fall products!

While I had a great time touring the home office, where all of your orders come in and products come out, the most memorable experiences were Founder and Chairman of The Pampered Chef, Doris Christopher, welcoming us to Chicago.

with a wonderful group of gals that I have become lifelong friends with through this experience. Late night into early morning 'therapy sessions' and giggle fits proved to have taken their toll as the days of long meetings and late workshops rolled on, but I wouldn't have traded it for the world.

As I look back on this experience, I am thankful for all of you who have supported me thus far, and to those who continue to show unending support.

As experiences become lasting memories, I am filled with excitement and anticipation of what is to come.

Share that with me...

Erin

Walking in the Light

At one of the workshops I attended, we were put into groups of four for discussion. While the discussion was good, it wasn't so much on topic (it's strange so we're always places in the right place at the right time...). The chatting ran into the subject of Christianity, and my new friend stated how she doesn't share her faith in her business for the fear of turning off returning an potential customers. After I took a minute to digest the gravity of what was being approached, I shared with her my openness of my faith, and what a great opportunity we all have to Walk in the Light, no matter where we are or what we're doing.

Psalms 89:15 states, "Blessed are those who have learned to acclaim you, who walk in the light of your presence, O Lord", and I pray she is blessed, indeed.

As I continue to grow in this business, I pray not only that I remain strong and grounded in my faith in the Lord, but also that I would continue to Walk in the Light, always shining the Light of the Lord for all to see, and that you do the same in your life.

Announcements!

This company listens!! I love the fact that when problems or concern arise, they are heard and made right!

Have you ever tried to contact Customer Service for the Pampered Chef? Were you thinking, 'How long will I be on hold? It's my dime paying for this call!?' Well, THEY LISTENED!! Beginning September 1st, you can begin to use the TOLL FREE Customer Service Hotline number, 1-888-OUR-CHEF. Fabulous!

What else has changed? If you've hosted a show before, you know what a pain sorting through boxes upon boxes of products for your guests can be. Introducing the Individual Guest Summary! Boxes shipped to you from you show will now be easier and more efficient to sort. You will begin by opening the box clearly marked "Open First". This box will contain the Individual Guest Summaries, listing each product the customer ordered, and what numbered box each item can be found in!

Just one more way that the Pampered Chef is making life easier! Thank you Pampered Chef!

Hi-ho, Hi-ho, it's off to school I go...

Well, it's official! I got word this week that I will not be working at my current position as an Administrative Assistant once school has begun. My last day here in the office will be August 18th. Scary, but extremely exciting!! I cannot wait to devote myself full time to my studies. What a successful and rewarding career this will be!!

BUT, I am a little nervous. Going from a two income household down to a one income household will throw any young married couple. Thankfully, I have Pampered Chef! I will be working extra hard on building my business to help offset the tipped financial scale, and I'll need your help! Now's the time to book your Fall shows to get those great 39 new products delivered right to your doorstep! What a great time to get your friends and family over for a fun, relaxing evening while you earn free and discounted products!

Call me today to get your show on my calendar!

Spotlight on My Favorite New Product

What's the biggest mistake while cooking? Measuring! The liquid to solid ratio is a delicate balance to achieve, and can often be what makes or breaks a batch of cookies. Our new Easy Read Measuring Cups are the best choice for measuring liquid ingredients. The flared rim means dripless pouring and an angled design allows you to read measurement marks from above. That's right, no more backbends, knee stoops, or forward folds to get down to counter level! Standard and metric measurements are marked on this set of three cups in 1-cup, 2-cup and 4-cup sizes. The cups nest inside one another for easy storage, are microwave and dishwasher safe with a one year warranty. Rubber grips on the handles of these new measuring cups make them easy to hold while measuring and pouring. These will be a great addition to your kitchen just in time for holiday cooking!

Item #2175, $22.00 / set of three
